ABOUT

Black Cube is an alternative art production house based in New Delhi, India that works with established and emerging artists to curate unique contemporary art experiences. What makes Black Cube special is its drive to tackle the elite 'white cube' model, and represent art in a raw, immersive and more approachable manner.

Reflections of Society was the first of many art events that BlackCube will present. The production house hopes to continue to create interactive spaces that exhibit mediums never seen before in the history of Indian art.

The exhibition consisted of several standalone rooms, where viewers were able to personally interact with the artworks. The rooms themselves represented the way artists interpret immoral, shiftless, and self-gratifying behaviors prevalent in modern society. Accompanied by installations, virtual reality, musical performances, food, and drinks, BlackCube presented a truly holistic art experience.

FOREWORD

On the 11th of October 2018, Black Cube made history by inaugurating one of Delhi's first-ever immersive art experiences. Attended by over 750 guests, the show was an immense success at introducing the city to a new kind of art showcase. Artists in attendance included Krishen Khanna, Himmat Shah, Jagannath Panda, GR Iranna, Ranbir Kaleka, Phaneendra Nath Chaturvedi and Dhananjay Singh to name a few.

Reflections of Society was an immersive art exhibit that focused on the self-gratifying human tendencies that plague modern day societies. Breaking away from the traditional white cube space, we immersed our viewers in a sensory experience of sound, light and touch.

We are indebted to our artists, collaborators, and supporters who helped us make this show a reality, and hope to continue to spread this social commentary through our viewers. Reflections of Society can be seen as both an opportunity to hold a mirror to ourselves as well as a space to appreciate the best versions of ourselves.
